Living together as Brothers and Sisters – Presenter Christopher Gilroy

Christopher explained that God first adopted the Israelites to be His chosen people and then, through Jesus' death and resurrection, He has made us his very own sons and daughters by baptism. This means Jesus is our brother! We are members of Jesus' own family! How does this make you think about yourself and about your relationship with other Christians?

Christopher said that "The life of faith is a constant journey God doesn't want us to stay the same he wants us to keep growing." Do you agree? What can help us to keep growing as individual Christians and as a community of believers?

Christopher proposed to love your neighbour as yourself means: "If you are longing for love, if you want to be respected, to be seen, to be noticed, to be appreciated, to be served then you have to love, you have to appreciate, you have to serve, and you have to give yourself. Love costs our heart." What do you think of this idea? How does it challenge your current way of relating to others?
